The eBook has become the hottest potato in the publishing industry since the beginning of the 21st century. But there have also been a lot of conflicts among copyright holders, publishers and service providers over the use of contents due to the incompleteness of the modification of law and system. This paper considers the issues in the law related to the copyright for the purpose of promoting the use of eBooks. It examines the ownership of eRight and the elements of modification of related laws to resolve the problems caused by misunderstanding of copyright in the eBook business. For the development of eBook business, this paper suggests that a virtuous circle of investment and growth be established, that publishing rights be strengthened, that data purchase rights be interpreted broadly, and that collective management society be more utilized.
