A Study on Copyright Act Article 135

Choi, Jin Won

In 2006, Copyright Act adopted the donation of author's property rights (Article 135), however the result is disappointing. Furthermore, this law has been criticized and considered as the law only for the National Anthem because there is no difference in reality between the amended Copyright Act and the existing law such as civil code. Thus, this paper analyzes the provision on donation, and tries to establish the meaning of donation system by considering a similar system like CCL. After analyzing other similar legislations and policy driven by competent organizations, this paper suggest the provision be modified.
